

LOUD AND PROUD

NEW IPOD SPEAKERS ACTUALLY LOOK LIKE SPEAKERS

➤ You wouldn't buy a car that looks like an ice cream, so why get an iPod dock that resembles, say, a zeppelin? For an honest, no messing sound chucker, look no further than the Aktimate. It's got the usual iPod connection, stereo inputs and a headphone jack to keep your audio bases covered. Hook up the video output and you can send your photos and video to your telly, while the built-in amp gives you decent sound without the need to compromise on size. We say "boo-yah" for speakers that actually look like speakers. Let's have more of 'em.
